WE NOMINATE

Peter Geoffrey Cook, one of this country's most talented younger artists and a student of athletics par excellence, who in the past week scored a noteworthy "artistic double" by carrying off the best entry medal in the 1956 members' exhibition of New York City's crusty Century Association as well as the bronze medal of honor in the annual members' showing of the National Arts Club, also in New York. In the former, which has nationwide scope, the 41-year old Cook, a resident of Kingston, scored with a life-size portrait of his wife, Joan. In the latter, he won judges' accolades with a landscape of Pine Island, Maine, a work completed in the summer of 1955 in the vicinity of Wiscasset, Maine.

Insisting that the "subjects I paint must look what they look like to me," Cook, currently serving his second two-year term as president of the Princeton Community Players, has made a habit of winning prizes ever since he completed an "apprenticeship" with his father-in-law, the distinguished landscape painter, John Folinsbee, of New Hope, Pa. In 1939 he was singled out for the $1,800 Pulitzer scholarship, annually conferred upon the "most promising and deserving art student in America." Five years later he received one of the National Academy of Design's four Hallgarten awards and in post-World War II years held successful one-man exhibitions up and down the Atlantic Coast, from Palm Beach, Fla., to Boston, Mass.

Just a year ago Cook, a member of the Princeton University Class of 1937 who earned his bachelor's degree in the School of Architecture with Phi Beta Kappa honors, accepted a new challenge. He had previously taught art in the University, the Art School of the National Academy of Design, Princeton Country Day School and several museums. However, not until last February, when he succeeded John R. Stiegman (now head coach of football at Rutgers) as Princeton's assistant coach of hockey, had he tried his hand at coaching on the intercollegiate level. To this assignment he brought some two decades of active interest in hockey, including three years of varsity competition culminated by winning the award annually bestowed upon the Princeton Hockey player best combining sportsmanship, play and influence.

While in terms of "character-building" and win-and-loss percentages it is perhaps too early to assay Cook's efforts as a college coach, his record and influence speak for themselves. He continues as the manager and "senior playing member" of the Princeton Hockey Club and also helps coach the Club's junior team composed of secondary school students in this area. His three sons are all winning hockey honors: the oldest here on Princeton's freshman team, the "middle one" at Phillips Exeter Academy in the midst of his sophomore year, the youngest at Princeton Country Day. To make it unanimous, the lone Cook daughter is also interested in hockey and "dabbles"—in field hockey at Miss Fine's School.

For achievements that place him in the front rank of American artists; for his willingness to work with and for others—both in his profession and in community undertakings; for his contributions as a teacher and coach; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

JANUARY IN JANUARY

June's Six Months Off. The old refrain may say something heartwarming about "June in January," but they were strictly words from a deceiving song this week as winter moved into Princeton for keeps. Nothing to compete with the great blizzard of last March, mind you; just enough cold and snow to remind people that June is still six months away — and to set a few January records.

When Princeton thermometers dropped all the way down to two degrees above zero at 7:30 a.m.
Tuesday (some residents claimed sub-zero readings in the country), the weather was as cold as it has been on January 15 for a century, for certain, and maybe as cold as it has ever been here on that particular date. Moreover, it was the deepest temperature dip on any day since 1945, the last year of World War II.

Snow began falling before dinner-time Tuesday evening, and fell pretty steadily throughout the night to give the area its most picturesque blanket of white this winter — a blanket of some three inches. The early flakes were big and thick, but not big or thick enough to deter people from Mc-Carter Theatre, where some 800 music lovers gathered for the Budapest Quartet's second concert in eight days, or Princeton High School, where another 200 gathered to discuss a "social code"
for today's teenagers.

The hottest issue of the coldest day—an $889,075 proposed budget for the Township school system (representing an increase of almost $150,000 over 1956) — drew a bigger audience than usual, an estimated 60, to Valley Road School. Enthusiastic school officials succeeded in their efforts to conduct a "Town Meeting"- style program, discussing such matters of interest as bus service for more youngsters, but there was little dispute over the total
to cover a crazy growth situation.

WHAT HOUSING WHEN?

Mayor's Committee Reports.
Limiting itself, at this time, to the primary purpose of considering the advisability of 50 low-cost housing units for Princeton Bor-

Dickens Every Sunday

Although the ever-busy groom-to-be has yet to be heard from on the subject, Helen Stevenson this week told newsmen that she will hold "open house" every Sunday for New Jerseyans once she and Governor Meyner are married.
(The nuptials are scheduled for Saturday in Oberlin, Ohio and, following a honeymoon in the British West Indies, the couple will commence housekeeping at Morven, newly-renovated governor's mansion on Stockton Street).

Elaborating on her point,
the state's next "first lady" explained, "We not only will hold 'open house' every Sunday, but we will set aside days
during the week for residents of the individual counties. I'll love every minute of it. I like to entertain!"

Also elaborating on her point, Princeton Police Chief John Smith speculated that Morven's good-sized parking area and the space around nearby Battle Monument (seldom used on week ends) ought to accommodate Sunday sightseers, but he agreed that a warm spring day might bring out more visitors than the gay fiancee imagines. "Yeh," mused the chief, "I won't be at all surprised to see special State Police directing traffic outside Morven in a very short while."

ough, the Mayor's Advisory Committee on Housing has submitted a first interim report that was made public this week. The committee has recommended that the Borough Housing Authority limit its proposed project to not more than 25 units, and make such utilization of existing vacant land in the proposed site as to accomplish this objective with the demolition of not more than one dwelling.

Countless hours of discussion, plus thorough inspections of the proposed site and the existing homes affected (bounded roughly by John, Lytle, Witherspoon and Clay Streets), were required before the advisory group felt qualified to report to Mayor Sturges.

Its conclusion:

(1) On the basis of applications
now on file with the BHA, the actual need for additional low-cost housing units, applying the necessary standards of eligibility, is between 15 and 30 rather than 50.

(2) The BHA's proposal to erect 50 units would involve the demolition of 17 dwellings, of which 10 are owner-occupied, and only one, or possibly two, are definable as sub-standard. Most of the current residents of these homes would not meet the eligibility requirements of low-cost federal housing, and their subsequent dislocation would result in their necessary removal from the Borough, and probably also from the Township, under existing real estate conditions, both social and financial.

(3) There appears to be no

26% of the cases of polio fall in the age group above 20.
60% of those who die from polio fall in the age group above 20.
69% of the polio "lung" cases are over 20.

The severest crippling from polio occurs in the age group
above 20.

For the past 12 years, the greatest percentage of increase in polio cases is in the age group above 20.

It takes an eight-month period to receive the complete series of three shots of the Salk vaccine.

Maximum control of polio depends on widespread use of the vaccine.

Authorities recommend that everyone, especially those up to age 50, be inoculated.

Supplies of the vaccine are ample, and the series of three shots will give you 90% immunity.

TUITION BOOST

University Raises Cost $200. A decision to raise Princeton University tuition from $1,000 to $1,200 next September was made known this week by President Harold W. Dodds. At the same time, he reported an increase in the annual budget of $820,000 for merit salary increases and benefits for faculty members and other University personnel.

In revealing the trustees' move, President Dodds commented that "we have resisted this step by every possible means but have found it necessary to act now in justice to the members of the faculty, administration and the staff whose services particularly deserve recognition." Dr. Dodds further reported that the increase "will provide a $580,000 gross gain in University income, but nearly one-third of that sum, $180,000, will be allocated immediately to the student aid program so that no Princeton undergraduate, whether or not he is receiving scholarship or other form of student aid, will have to leave Princeton for financial reasons."

The $200 rise in tuition and fixed fees from some 2,950 undergraduates will produce a net increase of $400,000 in University income. This will bring the anticipated revenue for 1957-58, exclusive of income from the alumni's Annual Giving campaign, to within $1,500,000 of the projected $18,000,000 budget total. The alumni goal has been set at $1,500,000 for the first time.

Dr. Dodds pointed out that "over the years, Princeton undergraduates have paid in fixed charges to the University approximately half the direct cost of their education. In recent years," he concluded, "in spite of several tuition increases, the last of which became effective in September, 1955, the portion absorbed by the University has risen to the degree that the increase is needed to help redress that balance."

served: "Detroit ranks fifth in population but it is third nationally in auto thefts, third in murder and fourth in the size of its police department. I suggest that they might spend more time in legitimate police work before taking on an assignment for which they have no qualifications."

Fred Van Deventer, 133 Mansgrove Road, sometime radio, television and newspaper contributor who appeared this week to be the choice of Mercer County Republicans to run for state senator in the coming primary election. If endorsed by the party, which will virtually assure him of reaching the general election in November, it seems logical that the veteran gamester (and perhaps game politician) will be asked a lot more than "Twenty Questions."

ROUND-UP

No doubt the weather was Princeton's No. 1 topic of conversation this week, but it will take an all-time record snowfall to bury the topic of tax rates when Borough and Township budgets are announced in a fortnight. Speaking of fortnights, that's how long "A Roomful of Roses," which bore the scent of something less sweet when presented here last spring, will be played by an American company of actors in Rome this winter. Mesdames: Ne voudriez-vous pas faire des classes de Francais avance sous la direction de Madame Archer au YWCA le jeudi de midi a une heure et demi? Téléphonez 1-1230-W.

Three effervescent Princeton sports figures—squash champion Betty Constable, boxer-sculptor Joe Brown and newborn schusser Chet Page—scored with off-beat stories in the New York Times this past week, which may be some sort of Princeton record. Statistically speaking, the Red Cross has collected $5,670 here for Hungarian relief (for which the organization thanks all contributors), the YMCA building fund has received an additional $32,000 in gifts and pledges since its recent swimming pool announcement and it has been noted, with no little surprise, that the proposed John Street-Bayard Lane "link" will cost some $3,000 less than the new post office door, From the "It-Could-Only-Happen-In-Princeton" department: An actual conversation between two women wherein the first asked, "Have you seen Mary lately?" and the second replied, "Yes, I saw her at the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company" . . . The Princeton Lions, encouraged by the success of their first annual Charity Ball last year, will hold a second one on February 23 at Miss Fine's School. . . Classified ad of the week: Two two-room schools for rent, compliments of the Montgomery Township Board of Education.

Short shots: Nary an applicant to date for either the Borough or Township police forces, and both need new patrolmen badly. . . Good news for commuters in the form of six new PRR coaches, with every modern convenience, which are due to roll next fall (for a mere $1,500,000). . . The subject of water fluoridation receives considerable attention in Question of the Week, page 12. . . Another postponement of the Wine & Game holdup (1951) trial as the three defendants attempt a new appeal before the State Supreme Court. . . Don't forget 1957 dog licenses ought to be purchased before the end of January!

FEBRUARY ELECTION

Nine Seats Open. The Boards of Education of Princeton Borough and Township, responsible for growing businesses that now spend almost $2,000,000 and involve some 3,500 children annually, will conduct their yearly elections on February 13, with more at stake this year than usual. No less than nine posts, four on the Borough board and five on the Township board, will be open when voters go to the polls a month hence.

In both municipalities, petitions of candidacy for the positions must be filed with the clerk of the board in question by 3 p.m. next Wednesday. Candidates must be three-year residents of their particular municipalities and need not to report, must be able to read and write. On election day, polls will be open from 5 to 9 p.m. at Nassau Street School in the Borough and Valley Road School in the Township.

Rev. E. Paul Horngrhausen, 80

Mercer Street, and Dean Jeremiah S. Finch, Princeton University, a pair of veteran incumbents, will seek re-election to the Borough school board. Running with them for a regular three-year term on the nine-member group will be Mrs. Edna McCrohan, 278 Hamilton Avenue, seeking to replace Mr. Jean Perkins, who is moving into the Township—and out of Borough consideration—this year.

Graham Rohrer, 45 Princeton Avenue, will toss his hat into the ring for the sole one-year term open in the Borough—the unexpired term of Roger O'Kane, who left the board late last year by virtue of his household move to West Windsor Township. Actually, Mr. Rohrer might be labeled "a novice incumbent," since the board already has chosen him to succeed Mr. O'Kane and he will be duly sworn in as a member of the group at its next regular meeting January 29. Just two weeks later, he will be asked to defend his newly taken post in the school board election.

In The Township, where two members of the nine-man board resigned during 1956, John S. Donal Jr., 264 Snowden Lane, will seek one of the berths, a two-year unexpired term, and Mrs. Walton Van Winkle, 68 Overbrook Drive, will try for the other, a one-year unexpired term. Meanwhile, three incumbents—Mrs. Jess Epstein, 7 Littlebrook Road, John E. Dobbin, 75 Rollingmead, and William L. Wilson, 225 Jefferson Road—will make their bids for re-election to the school board.

Commenting on both elections, Mrs. Thelma Young, current president of the Borough board, said, "We are looking for citizens with a genuine interest in the educational welfare of Princeton public schools, present and future, and in the young people who attend these schools. We need individuals who are willing to spend hours and hours of time and effort." B. Woodhull Davis, superintendent of Borough schools, echoed Mrs. Young's thoughts, pointing out that the calibre of board members and candidates has been so high in recent years that the 1956 candidates probably will run unopposed.

GENERAL ALARMS

Much Smoke, Little Fire. A pair of general alarms were sounded in the Borough last Saturday, taking members of all three fire companies to two scenes that featured more commotion than flames. Victims of the first fire were hospitalized, though not as a result of burns, and perpetrators of the second blaze were arrested.

At 2:20 a.m., the first call brought volunteer firefighters to 218 Spruce Street, where a small fire — producing a considerable amount of dense smoke — was confined to a chair and sofa in the living room. Mrs. Maria Lisi required hospital treatment for shock, after jumping to safety from the roof of the house's porch, while her husband, Michael, was treated for a cut foot and smoke inhalation.

At 9:47 p.m., the second call sent firemen to aged Witherspoon Hall on the Princeton University campus, where three 19-year-old students allegedly burned up a dried-out Christmas tree outside their room on the dormitory's fire escape. Other students in nearby Edwards Hall reported the incident when they saw the tree ablaze and thought it was a chair inside a third-floor room. Police investigators arrested the three occupants of room 352

—Robert Hart, Thomas Sternberg and Dale Goldsmith — and released them only after they produced $100 bail each. An appearance was tentatively set for this week, but was postponed as officers sought to determine what specific charge to lodge against the campus pranksters.

LICENSES LOST

Three fined for intoxication. Driving while intoxicated cost three Princeton area residents their licenses for two years and brought each a $225 fine Tuesday. Magistrate Paul R. Chesebro, presented with evidence of "unusual emotional stress" by attorneys for each defendant, said that if a doctor's certification of such a problem was forthcoming, the fines would stand in lieu of his customary 30-day jail sentences for the offense.

The defendants, each of whom pleaded guilty, were Darwin J. Adams, Jr., 32, 1041 Princeton-Kingston Road; Mrs. Elsie R. Kerney, 45, of the Newton Towers; and Joseph A. Mraz, 50, Laurel Avenue, Kingston. Mr. Adams was also fined $15 on two counts of failure to have his license in his possession and another $30 for reckless driving. Three hours later, a reckless driving charge in Princeton Township cost him $55 more.

Robert L. Wood, 25, 54 Leigh Avenue, paid $25 for speeding, while the same offense in lesser degree cost H. W. Phox, 18, 35 Birch Avenue, $15. Albert Davis, 24, 190 Witherspoon Street, and Melvin M. Tumin, 38, 110 Prospect Avenue, were fined $14 each for illegal "U" turns and John W. McVeigh, 21, 21, 21 Lytle Street, paid $12 for passing a "stop" sign.

In Trenton, the State Department of Law and Public Safety announced that Robert E. Flory, 24, 167 Hamilton Avenue, has had his license revoked for two months. He has been convicted of speeding three times within a year and a half.

Modern Art to Go on Exhibit. A special exhibition of modern paintings will go on view at The Little Gallery, 39 Palmer Square, February 1, for the benefit of Hungarian relief.

Famous art works from 25 private collections will present the creations of Van Gogh, Renoir, Matisse, Utrillo, Marin, Villon, Dufy, Klee, Miro, and Cezanne. Larom B. Munson of the Little Gallery believes the exhibit "will be a collection of modern art worthy of any museum in the country."

What to do for PARTY-TIRED CLOTHES

Helpful hints for keeping your wardrobe in Tip-Top form during the holiday entertaining season

- After each party, let clothes air out at least overnight. Then inspect for food spots, beverage splashes, perspiration or other soil.
- If okay, a little shaking or even brushing won't hurt to smooth out minor creases. Hang in closet on wide (not wire) hangers protected by garment bags ... and don't crowd.
- Have soiled or badly crumpled things reconditioned immediately. For this purpose nothing else equals our Sanitone Dry Cleaning Service. So call us without delay.

SPANISH DANCERS

Ole and All That, Who would have thought that Princeton possessed enough aficionados of Spanish dancing to give McCarter a near-capacity audience Friday night? The audience not only came, but after a sluggish beginning, it attained almost Spanish heights in enthusiasm with eager applause and even a few "Bravos" and "Ole's."

The high point of the evening with Carmen Amaya and her company was, without dissent Senora Amaya herself. High-strung and intense, she dominated the stage every moment she was on it, even if only sitting on a chair watching her company dance. The occasions she herself chose to dance, however, were unfortunately too few, her own excellence and the standard of the dancers in the company taken in consideration.

The main characteristic of Amaya's dancing is its high technical competence coupled with complete masculinity in choreography and interpretation. She dances like a fine game-cock, tense and aggressive, but, brilliant as it is, her dancing lacks many of the other qualities of Spanish folk dancing, such as tenderness and warm humor.

The company's first performer, Goyo Reyes, proved to be both an accomplished dancer and an able clown, particularly in the charming "Castellana" with its pastoral grace. The rest of the company, Pepita Ortega, Olga Fernandez, Begona Palacio, Curry Amaya and Jesus Sevilla, all danced well and obviously worked very hard, but none of them seemed able to lift their performers from a well-executed craft, pleasant to watch, up to the vastly different levels of artistic perfection.

The Amaya company also included an excellent Flamenco singer, Domingo Alvarado, who sang an interesting selection ex-

Players' Play Set

"Amphitruon 38," a Broadway comedy hit of the 1930's, will be staged by the Princeton Community Players in March as their opening presentation in the newly-renovated theatre on Alexander Street. John F. Becker will direct the S. N. Behrman's translation of the Jean Giradoux play.

Eleven parts (five women, six men) will be cast as a result of tryouts next week. Under the supervision of Mrs. H. C. Sturhahn, they will take place at the Alexander Street site (formerly Rosedale Mills) at 8 p.m. Monday and Tuesday.

An innovation on production dates has been planned by the dramatic organization. The comedy will be offered on successive weekends, March 14-16 and again from March 21-23.

tremely well. The well-known guitarist, Sabicas, played several of his own compositions beautifully, and the pianist, Alfredo Speranza, intriguingly concealed behind drapes with only the hands showing in neo-Stokowsky-style, added much to the performance.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Wrong Man (Jan. 17-19), based on the actual case of one Manny Balestrero and written by veteran screenplaywrights Maxwell Anderson and Angus MacPhail, is the story of a bass fiddler at the Stork Club (Henry Fonda) who is wrongly accused of staging a holdup as a result of mistaken identity. It is also Alfred Hitchcock's latest suspense drama, with the emphasis on drama rather than suspense—perhaps an unfortunate Hitchcock decision. Filmed on location in New York and aided by excellent photography and background music, this study of cinemanguish is unfolded with a documentary realism, stressing all the horrors experienced by an innocent man until he is finally declared innocent. Fonda leaves something to be desired in his portrayal of the de-based fiddler, but Vera Miles is most convincing as his distraught wife.

You Can't Run Away From It (Jan. 20-22), according to Columbia's title dreamer-upper, but movie veterans who fondly remember the original version, "It Happened One Night," may well wish they had. Not that the 1956 remake of a 1934 award-winner doesn't have its meritorious moments, but, somehow, a lot of the wonderful fun of the earlier product gets lost in the maze of modern-day CinemaScope, Technicolor, "cute" songs and over-polish. Talented comedian Jack Lemmon has a field day as the zany reporter who romps across America with a runaway heiress, and his amusing antics are almost sufficient to justify the remake. June Allyson, ever the same, is sweeter than apple pie, and also most heiresses, while Charles Bickford, Paul Gilbert, Jim Backus and Allyn Joslyn do well in support. Mr. Allyson (Dick Powell) is responsible for the direction and production, Johnny Mercer for the occasionally listenable lyrics.

The King and Four Queens (Jan. 23-26) proves once more, if proof be needed, that Clark Gable is still one of Hollywood's great personalities of the past quarter-century as well as one of its greatest box office draws. Trouble is, he rates better material than this effort (as he has for a decade now). Anyhow, in "King," he is required to match wits with four conniving women (a sexy wench with no scruples, an unsophisticated number who seeks only true love, a big and brassy chorine, a shrewd plotter played by Eleanor Parker), plus their unloved mother-in-law (ably portrayed by Jo Van Fleet). Gable holds his own in inimitable fashion, and, though he fails to leave the town of Wagon Mound with the gold fortune that is brought out of hiding, he does ride into the tainted sunset with Miss Parker on the next horse. Thanks to the western's tongue-in-check approach, it manages to save face during most of the incredible shenanigans and comes off looking less down-at-the-mouth than it might have looked without the visible tongue.

THE GARDEN

The Grand Maneuver (Jan. 17-19), in French with English titles, refers to the wager of a handsome army officer (Gerard Philipe) that he can become the lover of any woman in town, chosen by luck, within 30 days. A Parisian divorcee (Michele Morgan) shapes up as the target and, from this point on, it's not too difficult to guess the situations — except that the great lover is left empty-handed at film's end, a refreshing departure from Hollywood conclusions. Director Rene Clair's sensitive characterizations, impressive in his first color picture, may prove a bit tedious for American viewers, coupled as they are with a familiar story line, but the acting is top-grade.

The Magnificent Seven, Jan. 21-26) are volunteer Samurai, Japan's professional warriors of the 15th Century, and, for 158 minutes in this somber, deeply human film (black and white), they give of themselves and of their fighting abilities to help some humble farmers save their village from the ravages of bandits. While there are admittedly slow spots here and there, the spirited acting, the interesting situations and the epic conception of the whole make it one of the best pictures the Orient has sent here to date. Directed by Akira Kurosawa, whose craftsmanship was first revealed in this country in "Rashomon," the film last year won the Lion of St. Mark award at the Venice Festival. It is offered in Japanese, with English titles.

ADULT ART COURSES

Lectures on Masterpieces Set. Several courses on art and art appreciation will be offered by the Princeton Adult School during its 15th season this winter.

Registration will be held at the High School this Thursday, Monday and Tuesday from 4 to 6 and from 8 to 10 p.m., with the term starting January 31. The fee for the courses is $5 for ten one-hour sessions, and $9 for ten two-hour sessions. Reprints of the full curriculum are available at Town Topics.

"Masterpieces of Western Art" will consist of lectures on ten art treasures, considered by the faculty of the department of Art and Archaeology at Princeton to be among those which should be studied and understood by all.

A lecture on Leonardo da Vinci will be given by Professor Rensselaer Lee, chairman of the department of Art and Archaeology. In separate lectures, other members of the department will discuss the Parthenon; the stained glass windows of Chartres; Giotto's frescoes in the Arena Chapel at Padua; Michelangelo and the Sistine Ceiling; Raphael and the frescoes of the Stanza della Segnatura; St. Peter's; Versailles; the etchings of Goya; and Picasso's "Guernica."

Larom B. Munson, owner of The Little Gallery, will conduct a class in modern American painting. Except for one lecture dealing with the background in Europe and America leading up to

Bee-Line to Thorne's

In case you're not in the buzz about life among the bees, we have some information for you. A queen bee is nourished by an extremely rich milk-like substance secreted from glands in the head of a nurse bee. It's called royal jelly and it has a lot of nitrogen, vitamins, minerals and goodness knows what else.

Germaine Montell now has a face cream that contains 100 milligrams of natural royal jelly so that you, too, may have the complexion of a queen bee. This cream (at Thorne's) costs $10; two-ounce, $18; four-ounce, $30.

Just rub it in, and don't ask us how they milk the jelly from the bee. This is probably a very top-level job at Montell and its technique strictly secret. After all, does Helena tell Germaine?

Note to highly sensitive ladies: the fact that this cream comes from a bee doesn't mean that it will give you hives.

the bodice. Satin modifies the texture of linen in two dresses. One has an off-shoulder neckline, two satin bows for shoulder straps. Another, sleeveless, has narrow satin piping (blue or pink).

Polished cotton has two-inch stripes of beige and white artfully matched in its full skirt and plain, cap-sleeved blouse. Firm cotton gives a low sheen to a full-skirted white shirtwaist with front zipper.

Suits at Rosette Pennington are probably simple dresses with a jacket to cap them off. A light-weight grey wool dress has soft pleats, cap sleeves, and a short tulip-shaped cape with a little collar. Navy wool gabardine has a short, ship-shape jacket with brass buttons and a white ascot (this one is a real suit with skirt). A pale grey dress, underskirted for slight fullness, has a bellhop jacket with pale violet chiffon scarf and bouquet.

A dress to wear anywhere, any time, is a navy (black) silk shantung with deep surplice neck and crushed cummerbund banded with satin.

Half Fare Tickets. For the benefit of parents who do take their children along on winter vacations, the Little Clothes Line, Palmer Square, has a cavilion of bell-shaped skirts. They are all in tones of pale blue, green and violet; soft flowers on a pale background.

The skirts are polished cotton with perle linings that preclude the use of a petticoat, and they are thoroughly washable. In fact, the label says, "No Dry Clean." In sizes 7-14.

A linen-like fabric has been used for a two-piece dress. Skirt is a circle with a border of tiny hearts around the place where the hem is stitched. Blouse has Thou Winter Wind. This chap-and-crack season should take you immediately to Thorne's, 158 Nassau, where you'll find a soothing collection of balms and oils to keep the wind from blowing your skin apart.

Cheramy has a Skin Balm, Du Barry has a hand and body lotion as non-allergic as such a lotion can possibly be. Coty's hand lotion has vitamins A, and D (D is the skin vitamin, you'll recall), a dispenser too if you want one, and a lower price, ($1 for a regular bottle, $1.50 for a bottle with dispenser). Wind and Weather also comes in a cream, if you prefer.

In the interests of saving money and skin, Helena Rubenstein offers you estrogenic hormones — a $6 value for $3.50. You get a hormone cream for night, an oil to use under make-up. A larger, triple set includes the cream, oil, and a foundation base (silk-tone special). This triplet is a $9 value for $5.

Coty also likes the idea of money saved. Fifty cents has been tacked off several Coty products: homogenized cleansing creams (dry or oily skin) are now $1 for a $1.50 jar, and there are night creams and skin fresheners that are also offered at a saving. Coty has a pleasant thought for women who have never tried one of the vitamin D skin-food creams. You buy the $2.50 jar. Tied to its top is a tiny trial-size jar that you use up first. If you don't see results (and Coty is apparently confident that you will), take back the unopened big jar and get a full $2.50 refund.

Fat and hungry? Reduce-Aids now come in coffee, candy, and anise flavors (140 tablets, $2.95). Eat one before a meal and the very thought of chocolate fudge will bring a shudder.

Pack Your Bag. Continuing our vicarious cruising in the tropical waters of the world, we stopped off at Rosette Pennington for a sheath or two (Shopping Center). Vera Maxwell has a black or chartreuse linen with a three-inch panel of bright embroidery running up from hem to a point at Glass for Warmth. Conover and Emmons is one of those modern "general stores" where you can browse and poke about, certain to find anything in the world you need, from a butter churn to pine paneling. The store at Princeton Junction is a lumber yard primarily, as you know, but its services to the home do not stop with a two-by-four.

For example, on the day we parked beside the pile of "flagstones," we found the staff at C & E asking customers to consider insulation. Buy it flat with glass wool or rock insulation, with paper covering on each side, and lay it yourself in attic or crawl space, garage or basement. If you are remodeling.

What else in this building storehouse? Mist of Cedar to make any closet a cedar closet... dog soap and gold-fish food... liquid wallpaper remover and products to kill rats, mice, moles, ants (house or garden), and moths. Plastic aluminum for soldering... faucet handles... and racks of patterns to keep you busy during long winter evenings: make a breakfast, why not, or a valance or two or a picnic table for the terrace you will build this summer from Conover and Emmons materials.

Mosaic. Little square mosaic end-tables at Nassau Interiors will bring a punctuation of color to a grey January room. They are $19.95, in various colors to harmonize or provide a sharp contrast to the colors you already have. The furniture shop at 162 Nassau also has a 60-inch mosaic table, low on a black wrought iron frame. Its tiles are oyster white with perhaps half a dozen scattered ones in red or black. The appears again on the top of a table that's also a lamp. The whole piece is a floor lamp with a drum-shaped pottery base and a square mosaic table from which the shaft of the lamp rises. Colors are oatmeal, beige, worm walnut and a deep oyster grey.

Solid cherry forms a more conventional end-table. It's Colonial in design, oval in shape, with a small drawer in the end. It has a companion piece: a coffee table that's oval with two end-leaves that look rather like spaniel ears. A square end table in the same cherry has a middle shelf and drawer.

In the modern manner another coffee table shaped like a hexagon has six pie-shaped three-legged end tables tucked under its top. It has a walnut finish. The companion to this table is a Danish desk in the same walnut finish with three shallow drawers on the right hand side. The desk is shaped like a trapezoid.

The Armory Show in 1913, Mr. Munson will discuss American painting since that show.

John Marin will be discussed in a full lecture, and a film of his work will be shown. The class, a two-hour period, will also enable more advanced students to study composition and related problems. In oil, whose work Miss Margerum will evaluate.

Fund-Raising Dance Planned. The West Windsor PTA is sponsoring a dance at the Dutch Neck school at 9 o'clock on Saturday, February 2. Funds raised will be used to purchase books for the new library. George Janko will provide the music for both round and square dancing, and refreshments will be served. Tickets at $1 each can be bought from any PTA member or at the door. Robert Leigh is ticket chairman.

Township Committee Meeting. Residents of Rosedale Road this week petitioned the Township Committee to reduce the speed limit on Rosedale Road, between Stonybrook and Provinceline, from 45 and 50 miles per hour to 35.

The Committee spent most of its meeting Monday evening to the complaints of property owners who felt that they had not been treated fairly in the reassessment program. Among the residents voicing complaints were David A. McCabe, Theodore R. Fotts, Ferris Thomsen, Henry J. Frank, Elmer Greey and George Alexander. The temporary budget for the first quarter was adopted, and the Committee recommended that the proposal for sub-division of the Township's election districts be sent to the county election board.

HUN TO EXPAND. New Buildings Needed. Trustees of the Hun School have approved a $400,000 development program calling for construction of a new dormitory, dining room and kitchen.

According to John Poe, chairman of the board, the enrollment of the school has doubled since 1951. The program follows a long-range study to determine the ultimate enrollment based on the school's policy of selective screening and individual instruction. The study indicated that the maximum enrollment is 170 students, and that this enrollment would make the school self-supporting.

A master plan has already been drawn up to determine the location and of all buildings to be erected in the foreseeable future.

Headmaster Paul R. Chesebro has appointed George Strawbridge of Camden chairman of a committee to conduct a Development Fund campaign for the school. Howard W. Stepp, Registrar of Princeton University, will head a special committee representing friends of the school.

Mr. Poe, Dr. Chesebro, Clement V. Conole, president of McCutcheon's department store, and Fred M. Blaicher, assistant director of athletics at Princeton are members of the executive committee for the campaign.

PTA to Discuss Safety. The Township Parent-Teacher Association plans a discussion of the safety hazards which confront children of Princeton at its meeting Tuesday evening of 8 in the Valley Road School auditorium.

Dangers of ice skating will be outlined by Borough Police Sgt. Peter J. McCrohan while Richard Steiner, director of the Township Police Pistol Club, will be on hand to lecture on prevention of hunting mishaps. James Campbell, Jr., Township Police Chief, is in charge of a general discussion.

PTA committee chairmen John Dobbin, Mrs. Oliver Plantinga and Mrs. Henry Frank made arrangements for the program.

ERDMAN VS. MEYNER

Proposed Gas Tax Assailed. A sharp attack on Governor Meyner's suggestion to the Legislature that the State gasoline tax be increased to provide additional funds to match the grants from the new Federal highway program was made this week by Dr. Charles R. Erdman, Jr., six-time mayor of Princeton and former Commissioner of Economic Development in New Jersey.

Dr. Erdman also noted that the Governor "announced that he will 'kill by pocket veto' the bill recently passed by the Republican Legislature which would have provided adequate matching funds for the first year of the new highway program. He also had the gall," Dr. Erdman declared, "to designate this bill as 'trickery' and a 'partisan act'."

Dr. Erdman's statement praised the Republican-dominated Legislature for "refusing to increase the gas tax or any other tax before such increase is absolutely unavoidable." He pointed to the fact that highly conservative estimates of State revenues from motor vehicles (whose number has doubled in the past decade) have provided New Jersey taxpayers with an uncommitted surplus of some $30,000,000.

Dr. Erdman supported the Legislature's move in providing sufficient funds from this surplus to match Federal highway grants and attacked the Governor's veto, asking, "What prudent individual with a $30,000,000 bank balance would go out and borrow additional funds (or tax himself) when he only needed a third of his surplus bank balance?"

The statement concludes: "Who is trying to trick the voters in this case—the Republican Legislature which insists upon avoiding new or additional taxes until they are proven to be necessary or Governor Meyner who wants, as he has from the first day he assumed the governorship, new taxes for his ever-increasing political spending? If this be 'trickery,' Governor Meyner, let's have more of it and less of your profligate political spending."

Assets Increased. Assets of the Princeton Savings and Loan Association increased with 18.6% last year, it has announced as it marks its 40th anniversary.

The rapid growth of the community has created strong demand for the financing of new homes which, according to George C. Wintringer, president, the association has met to the extent that it acquired new mortgage loans for a total of $1,062,100 during 1956. Net savings last year increased by $992,400, and the savers received $113,641 in dividends, at the rate of 3% per annum.

Mr. Wintringer was re-elected president at the annual meeting, with John B. Grover, Harry B. Warren, William R. Lewis and John F. Hoff, Jr. also re-elected as directors for three-year terms.

Other officers elected include B. Franklin Bunn, vice-president, Mrs. Charlotte W. Dougherty, executive secretary, and Mrs. Helen S. Shepard, assistant secretary. Louis Gerber was appointed counsel, and Raymond C. Brickley was elected director to fill the unexpired term created by the death of Isaac A. Vogel.

Obituaries

Dr. Nathaniel L. Greenfield, 50, a member of the Princeton Medical Group, died January 11 of a heart attack while visiting in New York. His home was at Symmes Court, Cranbury.

A native of New York, Dr. Greenfield graduated from Columbia University and studied for his medical degree at the University of Vienna. An attending physician at Princeton Hospital, he was on the staff of Roosevelt Hospital, New York.

His associates in the Department of Pediatrics at Princeton Hospital issued this statement on his death:

"As friends and colleagues of Dr. Nathaniel Greenfield, we want to express our appreciation of the contribution he made to the practice of pediatrics in Princeton.

"He had a keen, analytical mind, basic training both in European and American pediatrics, and a special flair for the diagnosis and treatment of the contagious diseases, particularly polio. In the short time he practiced here, Dr. Greenfield gained the affection and respect of those who worked with him. His sudden death is a tragic loss to the Princeton Community."

A son, Peter; a daughter, Margaret, both of Cranbury; a sister and two brothers survive. The funeral at the Cranbury Presbyterian Church was followed by burial in Brainerd Cemetery there.

National Bank of Princeton announced this week that Archie G. Lummis, Mercer Road, has been elected assistant cashier. His new duties will be known as "platform" activities, including processing of loans, new accounts and interviewing customers on bank matters.

Prior to joining FNB about a year ago, Mr. Lummis devoted eight years to banking in the state capital—four each with the Trenton Banking Company and Trenton Bank & Trust Company—and two years with Dun & Bradstreet. He also spent five years in the U. S. Army's finance department and, inasmuch as his wife is a teacher at Nassau Street School, he is now keeping even educationally by attending American Institute of Banking courses in Trenton.

Birth List. Boys were born last week at Princeton Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kahny, 20 Madison Street; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rosen, 442 Princeton Road; Mr. and Mrs. John C. Harris, Jr., 144 John Street; Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Milburn, 165 Birch Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Powell, RD 1; Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Simmons, Am-well Road, No. 441; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Harrison, 16 Wither- spoon Lane; Mr. and Mrs. James R. Grieves, 218-B Harrison Street; Mr. and Mrs. Richard K. Seymour, 401-C Devereaux Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Bolles, 226-B Harrison Street and Dr. and Mrs. Joseph E. McLean, Lawrenceville Road.

Parents of daughters are: Mr. and Mrs. William Eddy, Jr., 53 University Place; Mr. and Mrs. John R. B. Brett-Smith, 253 Prospect Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Wallace, Lincoln Highway and Mr. and Mrs. John A. Procaccio, 189 Harrison Street.

Princeton Bank Makes Low Bid. The Princeton Bank and Trust Company, together with an associated group, has been notified that its bid on $602,000 Temporary Notes of the Housing Authority was successful. These notes annually refund the balance owing on the Clay Street housing project, also known as the John F. Hageman homes.

Repeating for the second straight year, the Princeton Bank and its associated group, including the Chemical Corn Exchange Bank, Bank of America N. T. & S. A., placed a winning bid of a 2.34% annual interest rate plus a $7 premium. Last year's rate was 1.75% with a $3 premium.

Contest for Children. A poster contest in which the students of eight Princeton schools will participate is being sponsored by the Princeton Small Animal Rescue League. Contestants will be eligible for local and national prizes, the latter offered by the American Humane Association.

Subject-matter will be designed to "stress the positive and happy aspects of animal protection and care." Pupils from St. Paul's, Miss Fine's, Miss Mason's, Country Day, Nassau Street, Valley Road, Littlebrook and The Chapin Schools will compete.

Entry blanks for those who wish to enter at home may be obtained from Mrs. Gould Jones (tel. 1638). The posters will be judged on February 5 by a committee of Peter G. Cook, Mrs. Richard Huber and Larom E. Munson.

NO LAUGHING MATTER: Despite the big smile for photographic purposes, Mary Teresa Costantini doesn't think trips to the dentist's as much fun as most other trips (the photo was taken BEFORE her appointment). As a matter of fact, she believes fluoridation of Princeton's water might be the solution for future generations—if fluorine means better teeth and if Princeton's water needs it. For several thoughts on the same subject, see Question of the Week below. (Town Topics Photo by Alan Richards)

Question of the Week

Question: Do you favor the fluoridation of Princeton's water?
Location: Around town.

Mrs. Teg C. Grendahl, 4 Queenstown Place, homemaker: Of course, I do. I have agreed deal of faith in our dentist, and he's very much in favor of it. We even had our daughter's teeth fluoridized when we returned from living in the Orient in 1950. She was eight then, and her teeth are excellent.
 today. I must give credit, in large part, to the fluoridizing along with the switch to a proper American diet.

Mrs. Ora G. Hedgpath, 110 Jefferson Road, musician: It seems to me that, if the Boards of Health recommend it, it's a good idea. We put people in such positions of trust as these boards, and therefore we should trust their judgment.

Mrs. Mary Teresa Costantini,
 Rocky Hill, hairdresser: We ordinary laymen don't know much about fluoridation. We don't actually know whether Princeton's water supply needs it or not.
 I think the residents of the area ought to be told more about the original source of their water,
 and also about the fluoridation
 program. If the program is found to be a benefit for Princetonians, then it's good. But, if minerals in the water are sufficient to aid our teeth, then we obviously don't need it.

Mrs. Erna B. Cromwell, 3 Herrowtown Circle, homemaker: Fluoridation is an excellent idea for Princeton. I would love to see my youngest child benefit from a carefully controlled scientific process that wasn't available when I was child here. As a native of Princeton, I only wish we had fluoridation years ago. I'll bet my teeth would be in far better condition today if we had.

Ada A. Elmhurst, Graduate College, sociology student at Princeton University: I'm in favor of this—very much. Because it protects the children, as I understand it, and would help prevent much future dental trouble. Of course, I think more intelligent eating habits are perhaps just as important as fluoridation. My teeth are strong and white, with no holes, probably because I grew up in Egypt on a diet which included
 very few sweets.

Mrs. Leo Fischer, 40 Clover Lane, homemaker: Yes, I am. In the community I came from quite recently—South Orange—something like 95% of the area's dentists were in favor of fluoridation
 when the subject reached a vote. I have two youngsters who would benefit from the program, so the dentist's endorsement was enough to win my vote. (so, I knew fluoridation wouldn't do any harm, and I'm confident it would do lots of good.)

Flouridation, Anyone?

Boards of Health in Princeton Borough and Township have recommended fluoridation
 of Princeton's water, and have asked citizens to attend their monthly meetings to learn facts about fluoridation.
 Borough Council last week
 took the matter under advisement,
 the first recognition it has given such a recommendation.
 The Princeton Water Company and its physician have the problem in their "seriously studying it."

Pro: If placed in Princeton's water, the fluoride concentration would be one part per million parts of water with no taste, odor, or hardness
 — and would beneficially affect children from pre-birth to 10 years. Dentists, approving the program, say it would reduce decay from one-half to two-thirds. Cost would be 5 to 15 cents per person per year, covering the installation of two fluorinators ($2,000 each) and extra checking required for proper dosage.

Con: If not controlled properly,
 fluoride can be dangerous,
 as evidenced by communities where too much concentration has entered water supply from natural sources. The program must be understood by the general public, which it is not, resulting in its defeat at public hearings or the polls (example: Trenton election last fall).
 There is considerable organized opposition to the program — opposition with considerable monetary backing.

Daniel Walter, Mt. Lucas Road, salesman: I'll admit I don't know too much about fluoridation of water, but I've heard some people say it could be dangerous to adults if not properly handled.
 Therefore, I think Princeton should move cautiously before adopting such a program. And, since children are the only ones who can benefit from fluoridation, maybe it's wiser to administer fluorine by means other than through the water supply.

Mrs. Margaret Owens, 14 Quarry Street, homemaker: I think for the protection of our children's teeth we should have it. If we must hold an election to get fluoridation approved, I'll vote for it. I have five children who could gain from it right now.

WON'T BE LONG NOW: Mrs. R. Joan Guilmarin, who suggested small skating rinks for the Princeton Shopping Center, tells her 10-year-old son, Ken, that the Center management has taken her suggestion seriously and will have a pair of plastic rinks in use soon. Both shopper and skater seem delighted and it won't be long now.

Topics Of The Town

'BACKYARD' RINKS

Shopping Center Buys Pair. Thanks directly to a suggestion from Mrs. R. Joan Guilmarin of 16 Linden Lane, made in Town Topics the first week in December, the Princeton Shopping Center has purchased two "backyard" rinks for use by the public. Frank Warnecke, son of the Center's owner and director of its general operation, said this week the small skating rinks have been on order about a month, and should be delivered very soon.

Describing the winter "come-ons," Mr. Warnecke explained that they are made of plastic, have a diameter of 35 feet each, hold ice that is two inches deep and are suitable for a maximum of 24 persons each at any one time. "They freeze much quicker than the lake," he noted, "so we should have good skating ice on them every time the temperature is below thirty-two."

The Center director said the rinks will not be placed in the Mall, as originally suggested by Mrs. Guilmarin in a letter to Bamberger's, because "they would quickly kill the grass beneath them." They will be located at the north and south ends of the Center's parking area, reachable by traffic but well out of the way of it, one in the northeast corner near Bamberger's and the other in the southeast corner near the Acme and A&P markets.

Mr. Warnecke announced that there will be no admission charged at the rinks, designed primarily to lure customers to the Center and make shopping easier for them. They will be fine places for parents to deposit their children while shopping, he said, and will remain available for use by everybody when the Center is closed on Sundays. They will probably be open when the Center is open Thursday and Friday nights, providing the parking lot lighting is adequate, and they may even be open for use on other nights, if sufficient lighting can be maintained.

Informed of the Center's decision to heed her plea and install the pair of rinks, both Mrs. Guilmarin and her 10-year-old son expressed delight. She predicted that many Princetonians will share their enthusiasm, since Carnegie Lake is a difficult proposition in many cases and Baker Rink often entails a big crowd as well as an expense.

Mrs. Guilmarin admitted she has been criticized as a result of her criticisms of Carnegie Lake and Baker Rink skating facilities. "I was told I wasn't much of a mother if I couldn't take time to supervise my child skating at the lake," she observed, "but I'm a working woman and don't have much spare time to go way down to the lake, and anyhow I'm not athletic. The rinks at the Center will be just the answer for my situation."

Mile of Dimes Table Set. Princeton High School students are in charge of two "Mile of Dimes" tables at the Princeton Shopping Center through January 31. Patricia Liptak and Nelson Coughlin are chairmen of this teenage program.

The tables will be manned from 3:30 to 5:30 and will be at Acme and at Bamberger's. A table at the Garden Theater will be in charge of the Business and Professional Women's Club. Mrs. Wesley Conover, chairman, through next Wednesday. The Women's Auxiliary of the Lion's Club with Mrs. Nelson Thompson as chairman will take this table over through January 31. The Rainbow Girls will substitute for the high school students on January 25 and 26.

Freshmen Elect Officers. Norman Cantor has been elected president of the freshman class at Princeton High School. Balloting was held after the freshmen had had time to become acquainted.

Other officers include Frank Kinard, vice-president; Georgiana Coyle, secretary, and David Wright, treasurer. The group's first project will be a freshman dance on March 15.

Lecture on Dance Set. Walter Terry, dance critic at the New York Herald Tribune, will lecture on "The Dancer's Heritage" at a meeting of the Princeton Ballet Society Monday, February 18. The lecture will start at 8 p.m. in the High School auditorium.

Myra Kinch will illustrate the lecture with dance demonstrations, accompanied by Manuel Galea. Miss Kinch is modern dance director at Jacob's Pillow and also teaches choreography in New York. She appeared recently in a McCarter Theatre recital.

Tickets at $1 for students, $1.50 for all others, are on sale at the University Store.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS

Two Big Games on Tap. If Princeton's basketball team can win both its games this weekend, its chances of getting a shot at the Ivy League title will be extremely bright. The Tigers go against Dartmouth Friday and Cornell Saturday, with the starting time 8 p.m. each evening in Dillon Gym.

A pair of triumphs will give the Orange and Black a big bulge over defending champion Dartmouth, which lost both its games to Princeton a year ago but went on to win the title when it ripped off ten straight league victories. The Indians, however, have virtually all of their games at home following this weekend trip which also takes them to Philadelphia to face Penn Saturday.

Dartmouth has an overall 7-4 record, has beaten Yale and Brown and lost to Columbia in Ivy competition, all away from home. The Green has four of the five players who won the title last winter on hand again, depending primarily on Ron Judson (6-4), Jim Francis (6-8), Dave Carruthers (6-2) and Gene Booth (6-1). The Hanover quietest is the only one in the league that can match the Tigers in height, so that rebounding will tell much of the story.

Cornell will bring a sophomore-dominated squad here Saturday that has managed to win only two of its first ten games and is the league's cellar-dweller. Lou Jordan is the Ithaca's lone offensive threat—he dropped in 22 points to take scoring honors when Princeton whipped the Red, 74-54, Saturday on the latter's court. Frank Mead is a 6-6 center but short of experience in his first season.

Never trailing after taking a 6-4 lead, Capuy Cappon's steadily-improving quintet had matters its own way at Ithaca. Its 14-point lead in the first half was pared to 35-26 at the intermission, but when they resumed the Princeton rollers rolled to a 25-point bulge and the reserves took over.

Four starters—Whitely Fulcomer, Carl Belz, Ken MacKenzie and Fred Perkins—were in double figures, with Fulcomer's 16 high for the evening. He and Captain Don Davidson completely dominated the rebounding, while Perkins came up with his best performance of the season in playmaking and ball-handling.

Hockey Team Swamped. Jamming in its first goal at the 44-second mark and raising its lead to four inside of seven minutes, Harvard's Ivy champions dealt the Princeton hockey team a 9-1 drubbing Saturday afternoon. Paced by junior Bob Cleary, the Crimson completely dominated the fray and the outclassed Tigers absorbed their tenth loss of the season.

Cleary accounted for three goals and four assists, his seven points in one game ranking as a higher total than any Princeton player has been able to achieve in ten this season. There was bad news from Providence, too, in that Dartmouth, last-place occupant for several seasons, did improve to the extent that it defeated Brown by a 5-3 margin.

Weekend Action. A wrestling match against Columbia is set for Dillon Gym at 3:45 Saturday, the only other varsity event on the schedule here.

The swimming team, which has beaten N.Y.U. and lost to Colgate, meets Penn in Philadelphia, as do the fencers, who trimmed Rutgers in their opener. The squash team, 5-4 victor over Dartmouth, plays Army at West Point.

PHS COMEBACK

Losing streak ended. Starting out in sizzling fashion, instead of waiting until the game's late stages and trying to catch up, the Little Tigers of Princeton High blasted Hamilton's High basketball team Friday, 77-53, on the losing club's court. Apparently fond of playing in the evening it was their first of only three nights encounters this season.

son), the Princetonians scored 29 points in an opening period rout, to 13 for the Hornets, and enjoyed a comfortable 47-26 halftime advantage.

PHS seemed to do everything right, for the first time this campaign, as a three-game losing streak was ended and the PHS record was advanced to 3-4. True, Hamilton has now lost five straight, after a lone win, but Princeton probably would have had almost as good a time against much better opposition. The Little Tigers boasted a 21-7 edge in the free throw department and also led in field goals, 28-24.

High-scoring Alan Ammerman sank nine points during the first quarter barrage, then went on to total 28 markers by game's end. PHS Captain Dick Berger was close behind his fellow forward, hitting for eight in the opening period and a total of 27. Only in the final period, when reserves took over for the Blue and White and the Hornets managed a 23-12 margin, was PHS' one-point quelled a bit.

On the statistical side, Ammerman's output raised him to a seven-game total of 165, or 23.6 points per game (just three points behind Marv Trotman's record-establishing pace of last year).

Borger has contributed 147 markers for a fine 21-point average, while the team as a whole has averaged 87.4 points to 63.7 for the seven opposition teams.

Delighted over the showing of his smoother-looking combination, which also featured a 15-point average by Steve Hogarty, Coach Tony Borzok saw a good chance for his Little Tigers to climb over the 500 mark during the coming week. They will face Bound Brook here next Tuesday, at 3:15 p.m., following this week's intramural meeting with Ewing High (for a late report on the latter contest read below).

In Friday's junior varsity preliminary, an undefeated Hornet Jaycee quintet posted its fourth consecutive victory, an 82-72 verdict over the Princeton juniors.

BOWLING NOTES

Still competing in the season's first half of play at Princeton Recreation Center, Belle Mead staged a whale of a rally this past week, winning three games from KFD to move within one victory of first place in the Tri-County Firemen's League. Princeton Engine Company No. 1, with 77 wins, held the top spot, despite the loss of one game to Hook & Ladder, while Kingston copped a pair from Princeton Junction to stay in the running with 72 triumphs. Individually, honors went to Sal Ferrante and Art Parr, with 224 games each, followed by Larry Dufraz, 214, John Casillo, 210, Elmer Van Marter, 209, and Adrian Ryan, 203.

High scores galore were registered in the Major League, where, in Wally Brown set the pace with a 211-155-245 showing, good for a 611 series, and Larry Golden also shone with 236-202.

Others posting notable games were Joe Trank, 230; Guido Zinetti, 225; Tony Amalfitano, 223; Joe Perpetua, 219; Joe Baldino, 202-203, and Jim Lewis, 200. . . . Frazee's Market clipped the wood for a grand three-game total of 2901 (1120-832-950), ample to increase its loop lead over second-place Key Shop, 67-60.

First-half action in the 10-team Princeton "B" League concluded with Maul Electric (68 wins) well ahead of the Plainsboro Lions (60), Titus Motors (56) and the National Guard (56). . . . Bill Murphy's 224 game was tops for the evening, though other loop keepers shot above the 200 mark; Dick Edwards, 219, Ed Duncan, 214, Bruce Ferguson and Dan Arcomont, 209 apiece, George Sells, 208, and Ray Simonson, 204. The lineup in the Industrial League, which has begun second-half play, tightened during the week, Nassau Del (16 wins) barely managing to retain a slim margin over Dayton, Nassau Service, Glenmoor Diner and the Pioneers, all tied with 14, and Cable Tavern, with 12. . . . 218 game by Russ Sulphur represented a "low" high in the loop, while Walt Wengryn (202-196), Maurice Gledhill (202), Donald Anthony (201), Larry Golden (200) and Bill Sculerati (200) also reached the zone area.

Food Tech (24 wins) increased its advantage over Tiger Garage (20) in the Princeton "A" League, while Sunbeam moved into a third-place deadlock with Grover Lumbar (18 each) and Yeoman's (14) climbed back into contention. . . . John Slachewicz rolled a fine 21st game, pursued—at considerable distance—by Phil West, 211, Bill Dumble, 208, and George Fowler, 206.

On the staffed side, the Betty Wright Shop (83 victories) picked up a little ground on Castano (81), but not enough to endanger the latter's berth atop the 12-club Princeton Women's Bowling League for the first half of the campaign. . . . Marilyn Silverster tossed a creditable 206 game, and others performing well were Ruth Skillman, 176, Betty Harris, 172, Clara Cornell, 171-167, Marilyn Lowe, 166, and Sis Snyder, 165. . . . Nassau Service grabbed a tenuous lead in the Women's Industrial League, garnering 14 wins to 12 for Turney Motors and 10 for Decker's Dairy. . . . Betty Snyder's 187-169 paced the girls, followed closely by Lillian Bur-

Olympic Victors Coming

Members of the championship Hungarian Olympic water polo team will meet a team from the New York Athletic Club in Dillon Pool Monday night, January 28. Proceeds from the event will go in full to Hungarian relief, with Princeton University underwriting all expenses incurred in staging the program.

Men and women from the Hungarian swimming and diving teams which competed at Melbourne will also give exhibitions during the meet. All of them are expatriates who chose to come to the United States rather than return to their native land within the Iron Curtain.

Tickets for the affair are priced at $2.50. They may be bought at the Department of Athletics, Dillon Gymnasium; Hinkson's, 74 Nassau Street; or Frederick Harris, Princeton Shopping Center.

rough, 177-165, and Joan Ainsworth, 176-163.

In the finals of the Trentonian Handicap Doubles Bowling Classic, with the last round on tap this weekend, two or three Princeton teams remained very much in the running for top laurels. . . . Jack Lurey and Leroy Golden, with a 23-13 record, were tied for second place with a Trenton father-son pair after last week end's grueling grind, while Joe Baldino and Tom Cavanaugh were right on their heels with a 19-17 mark. . . . Cerino and Joe Roissier, showed a splendid 26-10 record.

Baldino, with 2,927 pins last weekend, registered leading scratch honors for the second straight week. . . . His 5,861 pins for 30 games give him a nifty 195.4 average, by far the best in the tourney so far. . . . Princeton's Jim Lewis was second from the scratch line last week end, with 2,828 pins, but he and George Laird, the defending champs, found the going rough and fell to a poor 9-27 mark, last among the 10 competing teams and no less than five full games behind the ninth-place pair. . . . This, despite Lewis' high individual game of the week, a sizzling 256!

SPURT PAYTS OFF

Hun Wins in Second. It took the Hun School basketball team a quarter to get used to the small and slippery confines of Croyden Hall's gym, but once the Princeton quintet caught fire, it was able to pick up the necessary points for victory in a single period. Final score, as the Johnny Huns evened their season's record at 2-2 and the Atlantic Highlands club dropped its fifth game in five starts, was 65-60.

Hun began last Thursday's contest slowly, unable to find the range in the pint-sized Croyden Hall gym, and fell dangerously behind, 21-12, at the end of the opening quarter. But, with Pete Foote setting the pace and exhibiting his best play of the campaign, the visitors rallied for 29 markers in the second period, while the home team was sinking 15, for a 41-36 halftime edge that they never relinquished.

The second half proved somewhat of a stalemate, Coach Dick Wentworth's fighters registering 12 points in each of the last two periods and Croyden Hall hitting for only 10 in the third and 14 in the fourth. Foote finished with 23 markers, just behind the 27 scored by the losers' Dick Stockton, and Hun also was aided by George Cramer's 15 and Chuck Barren's 13.

Hun's coach lauded his club's overall performance, despite the fact that the defeated quintet was really a "two-man team," observing that the Red & Black did everything better than at any other time this season. He looked for a continuation of the same brand of ball against Bryn Athyn this week (to find out if he saw what he wanted, read late report below).

WITHERSPOON TRIUMPHS

Keeps Slate Clean. After a shaky start and a two-point deficit (15-17) at halftime, Witherspoon School's varsity basketball team roared from behind in a hurry last week to defeat Valley Road School, 41-32. The home court triumph, coupled with two scrimmage victories, kept the winners' record intact after three 1956-57 outings.

A see-saw battle featured the opening half of play, though the shooting percentage of both clubs was low. Russ Perone and Co-Captain Sam Mather sparked Valley Road's effort, doing most of their team's scoring and putting the visitors ahead midway through the contest.

Paced by Tommy Peirone and David Smith, who registered 15 and 10 points, respectively, by game's end, Witherspoon flashed a bit of its expected form in the third quarter and soon opened up a 10-point gap that Valley Road was unable to close. Mather wound up as high man for the visitors, with 11, but his output was hardly adequate to save the day.

Both coaches, Norman Van

Arnsdalen of Valley Road and Simon Moss of Witherspoon, expressed dissatisfaction with the performance of their teams, predicting a better showing by the time they meet again on January 31. Moss noted that his club, although victorious, hit on only 30% of its shots from the floor.

PCD to Open Hockey Season. A two-game trip into New England will open the Princeton Country Day School hockey season this weekend. The Blue and White will meet the Taft School juniors Friday, while Kent will be Saturday's opponent.

The first line will consist of Pony Fraker, Webb Harrison and Tim Carey, with Hugh Wise and Joe Stevens on defense. Either Joe Wright or Staffy Keegan will be in the goal.

Country Day School's basketball team will play its third game away from home this Thursday, with Milltown providing the opposition. The Broadmead quintet lost its opener by two points last week, going down before Lawrence Junior High, 29-27.

Sports In Princeton

Monday afternoon saw Valley Road draw away in the final period to win, 43-35. The half-time count was deadlocked at 17—all.

PHS THROWBACK

Ewing Pulls Upset. Princeton High's Little Tigers shot ahead of Ewing High's basketball club Tuesday afternoon as if last week's win over Hamilton had taught them a great deal, but, incredible though it may seem, they forgot their lesson so fast they blew a 16-point lead and eventually lost an unsatisfactory decision, 85-80. The host players were ahead 25-15 after one quarter, 48-42 at halftime and were even tied 65-all at the three-period mark before their complete collapse.

What happened? The Little Tigers, who commanded a distinct height advantage for a pleasant change, got moving so well and so convincingly that they grew overconfident midway through the second quarter and allowed their defensive guard to slip. The Blue Devils, sizing up the situation, out-hustled PHS and grabbed the majority of rebounds off both boards. When the Little Tigers realized their plight, they "clutched" badly and, instead of employing team maneuvers at a time of real need, each player tried—in vain—to break through and stop the underdogs on his own.

Princeton hit on 20 of 27 foul tries and sank 56% from the floor, but these statistics were hardly enough to curb Ewing's drive, determination and speed. Led by Darwin White, who tallied 45 points on 16 field goals and 13 of 18 free throws for a new single-game Ewing record, the Blue Devils sustained an amazing rally and toppled a quintet that had them beaten long before they were willing to admit defeat (or did admit it, for that matter).

Alan Ammerman, PHS' top scorer and usually calm performer, picked up 10 points in the opening quarter, then tied up completely and finished far below par with a total of 14. Center Steve Hogarty, taking up much of the slack, contributed nine of 12 free tosses and eight baskets for 25 points, second only to White, as he began to realize his potential. Other Blue and White diehards in a losing cause were Dick Borger, with his customary 20 markers (on 10 field goals), and Dick Knowles, with 15 points (on six field goals and three foul shots).

OVERTIME LOSS

Bryn Athyn Edges Hun. Coach Dick Wentworth's Hun basketball forces set their sights on Friday's return engagement with Stevens Academy and next Wednesday's game with BMI, both away, after dropping a foul-marred overtime thriller to Bryn Athyn, 58-50, in Pennsylvania on Tuesday. The latest setback left the Princeton quintet with a so-so 2-3 record but still plenty of hope.

Much like their Princeton High brethren the same afternoon, the Johnny Huns got going in red-hot fashion, building up an eye-catching 12-4 first-quarter advantage. They cooled off appreciably by halftime, when Bryn Athyn tied the count at 18 apiece, but they were back in business at the end of three, 35-31, and only a second cooling-off period permitted the home team to deadlock matters at the end of regulation time, 46-46.

Postal Employees Honored. The Princeton Post Office has made public the names of 19 employees with more than 20 years of service. Postmaster Charles F. Murray and rural carrier John C. Sutphin both have 35 to 40 years of service with the office here.

Other records include: 30 to 35 years service assistant postmaster Samuel E. Copner; foreman Louis Paulino; superintendent Orval B. Seville; carrier Joseph Cruser; clerk Patrick McCloskey; carrier Elwood Blydenburgh; and clerk Daniel Kane.

Service from 25 to 30 years has been fulfilled by foremen George Cahill and James Quick, clerk Edwin Cox and carrier John Britton, 20 to 25 years service by clerks Stuart Campbell and Marsden Peabody; custodian Andrew Marcoline; carriers Frank and Walter Margerum and Leroy Page.

Blues Mean Red Tape

New door or not, the Princeton post office is inadequate to handle Princeton's fast-growing volume of mail, and a larger new building is badly needed to get all postal facilities under one roof and maintain efficient postal service. So thinks Postmaster Charles F. Murray, who made his opinion known in releasing telltale post office figures for 1956.

Postal receipts in the Princeton post office last year totaled $763,172.62, a big jump of 25% over 1955 and an increase of $250,000 in a two-year period. The postmaster attributed these large increases to three other increases: 1) volume of mailings of established business firms; 2) location of new business firms in the Princeton postal district; 3) influx of many new people in the area.

The establishment of a financial station at the Princeton Shopping Center last summer helped the situation a great deal, according to Mr. Murray, but, even with it and the parcel post annex, a new building is a "must" for the near future.

ATTENTION BOYS!

Shooting to be Taught. Applications for a special firearms training course for boys from 12 to 16 sponsored by the Township police department, are now being accepted at police headquarters in Township Halls. An organizational meeting for the course will be held as soon as enough youths have indicated their interest and registered.

Open to boys in Princeton Borough and Township, the training will be conducted under strict police supervision, free of charge, and will include demonstrations as well as instructions by Township patrolmen. Other features of the course will be muzzle-loading techniques, firearms safety, range procedure and qualifying shooting tests.

Firing will be conducted at the Township's new indoor range during the winter months, and the range's limited facilities necessarily will limit the number of trainees.

Drive Nets $4300 for Clinic. The Planned Parenthood Committee of Princeton received $4300 from nearly 400 contributors during its campaign for funds to continue its child-spacing clinic. This clinic is held every Thursday at 180 Nassau Street from 1 to 3 with Dr. David Rose, obstetrician and gynecologist, in attendance, assisted by Mrs. E. H. Gaskins, a registered nurse.

The announcement was made at the committee's annual meeting, which also included election of officers. The new officers are: Mrs. Gerald Breese, chairman; Mrs. Richard Macgill, vice-chairman; Mrs. Norman Buchanan, recording secretary; Mrs. Frederick Gihler, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Martin Beck, treasurer.

Named to board membership were Mrs. Doris Burrell, Mrs. John McLoughlin, Mrs. David Rose, Mrs. William Sword, Mrs. John Morgan, Mrs. William Walker, Mrs. James Hester, Mrs.

Music in Princeton

REPUTATION REDUCED
 Quiet Does Not Follow Score. The world of music is as full of myths as Ovid's "Metamorphoses." There is the Mendelssohn myth, the cult of a personality which has obscured so many artists of similar stature. There is the Brahms myth, which stamps the pianist as the supreme Chopin interpreter more than the basis of the quantity rather than the quality of his Chopin performances.

And there is the myth of the Budapest String Quartet, which in the opinion of at least, has been the only string quartet successful enough to survive over a long period of time strictly as a performing organization. The two concerts given in McCarter Theatre by the Budapest String Quartet, one the night of January 8 and the other Tuesday evening, were proof enough that things are not as they should be, not as they were so many years ago when the group first established its excellent reputation.

Roger Sessions has written that if a performer plays a crescendo where a diminuendo is indicated, he is playing as surely false as he would be should he sound F sharp where the composer has asked for C. Herein lies the principal fault in the Budapest performances; they are not true to the score. Messrs. Roismann, Kroyt and Schneider (Alexander and Mischa)—fine musicians all—have made the music they play so much a part of them that almost every vestige of an objective and critical approach to the printed page has been subsumed under the all-encompassing "interpretive" approach.

In the Schubert Quartet in A minor the composer has called for many diminuendos, a small percentage of them to be realized with a Ritardando. Yet the Budapest invariably provided every diminuendo with a ritard, gratis, whether requested by Schubert or not.

The adoption of such a cliché can produce only damaging results; not only is the rhythmic flow of the composition destroyed, but the structure of the movement as a whole is made equivocal and obscure. Again, in the Barokk Sixth Quartet, let us have glistard where they are noted, but certainly not between every interval larger than a second where the composer has indicated nothing more than two clearly articulated notes. Such an "overripe" style of playing has its place, but clearly its place was not in the music performed last Tuesday evening.

Of the two concerts, the second was by far the more satisfying. The "Seriöso" F minor Quartet of Beethoven, together with the beautiful Minuet of Schubert's Opus 29, brought forth some of the Budapest's finest work. Berok fared less well (senza colore means senza colore, gentlemen) although it was a pleasure to hear the group, known for its conservative practices, venture into a more contemporary idiom. The String Quartet No. 1 by the Argentinian composer Ginastera, which helped fill out the first concert, was a disappointing pastiche of ostinato effects, strong, but stagnant rhythms, and a motive construction which had the tendency to say everything at least twice. These same elements have been more skillfully put together by the composer in his Piano Sonata, a better piece of music, and perhaps more indicative of Ginastera's ability than the quartet.

The first night's audience was served Brahms with Schlegelers as a starter — the C minor Quartet, much too loosely performed, with the exception of a beautifully executed Finale, and the Haydn Opus 77 No. 2 as the concluding course. There were intonation difficulties to be sure, but the exquisitely wrought variation movement was handled with such sensitive understanding that one suspected there was a respectable tradition behind the name Budapest String Quartet after all.

Anderson Concert Near. The famous contralto, Marian Anderson, will be accompanied by her veteran pianist, Franz Rupp, at her recital Monday, January 28, at McCarter Theatre. The benefit is sponsored by The Friendship Club.

The committee in charge of the concert includes Mrs. Bertha H. Brandon, president; Mrs. R. J. Rivers, secretary; Mrs. Howard B. Wasson, financial secretary; Mrs. Mathew J. English, treasurer. Other committee members are: Mrs. F. D. Engle, Mrs. Rebecca Dudley, Mrs. Pleasant Fox, Mrs. Margaret S. Miller, Mrs. James J. Gripper, Mrs. Rose Jennings, Mrs. John Jones, Mrs. Redmond Marrow, Mrs. Nellie Greig, Mrs. E. C. Anderson, Mrs. Bessie Wilson, Mrs. Martha Blackwell, Mrs. Elizabeth Copeland, Mrs. Rex Goreleigh and Mrs. Norman Whiting.

Music Notes. Cherubini's Requiem Mass for chorus and orchestra will be the program for the Princeton Society of Musical Enthusiasts this Sunday. The concert will start at 5:15 at Miss Fine's School.

Professor J. Merrill Knapp of the department of music at Princeton will conduct. Everyone interested is invited to attend.

Because of the illness of the pianist, Solomon, his Series I concert on February 19 in McCarter Theatre has been cancelled. The University Concerts committee has secured pianist Edward Steuermann, instead.

The Hungarian-born movie actress, Ilona Massey, will appear at a special ceremony during the Princeton Symphony Orchestra's concert for Hungarian Relief, on February 23. Nicholas Harsanyi, who also was born in Hungary, will conduct.

The program will include Beethoven's Coriolanus overture; Schubert's fifth symphony; and peasant songs by Bartok. Sylvia Nichols will be soloist in Rachmaninoff's second piano concerto. Tickets may be obtained from Dr. Charles R. Erdman, 20 Library Place.

Library Receives Old Print. The family of the late Professor Frank J. Mather, Jr., has donated one of the five known copies of the first engraving, made in America, to the Princeton University Library. The print, a woodcut made in Boston more than 250 years ago, probably around 1670, is attributed to John Foster, first printer in Boston. The five-by-six inch engraving is a "first-state" impression of a portrait of the Rev. Richard Mather, Puritan divine and a founder of Massachusetts Congregationalism.

Professor Mather, who died here in 1953 at 85, was Marquand professor of art and archaeology at Princeton from 1910 to 1933, and director of the Princeton Art Museum from 1918 until his retirement from active teaching in 1946. He was a direct descendant of Richard Mather and the print came to him from his aunt Sarah C. Mather, who is said to have kept it at the bottom of her work-basket for many years. Professor Mather's widow lives at 3 Evelyn Place in Princeton.

News of the Churches

Take a Giant Step. The Rev. David H. McAlpin, Jr., was installed as associate pastor of the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church in history-making ceremonies last Sunday night before a capacity congregation of 250. Witherspoon has a Negro pastor and a predominantly Negro congregation, and the Rev. Mr. McAlpin is the first white minister to serve the church since it was founded in 1915.

Working for a "non-segregated church in a non-segregated society," Mr. McAlpin, the Rev. Benjamin J. Anderson, senior pastor of the church, will share the duties of the parish as associates. The Rev. Mr. McAlpin will make pastoral calls, work with Christian education and do occasional preaching while the Rev. Mr. Anderson will do the bulk of the preaching and share with his associate the other duties of a parish.

Witherspoon, as a Presbyterian church, had a while moderator of its Session before the coming of the Rev. Mr. Anderson. Many white students from the University and the Seminary have joined the congregation and served as occasional guest preachers.

The association of the two present pastors began some five years ago when Mr. McAlpin, a student at Union Theological Seminary, was to ask whether he might join the Rev. Mr. Anderson in his work with migrants. After his graduation a year ago, the Rev. Mr. McAlpin helped in the all-Negro church which the Rev. Mr. Anderson started in Manhattan. He preached his first sermon for the Witherspoon congregation in December, 1955.

At the installation service last Sunday, the Rev. James R. Armstrong, vice-moderator of the Presbytery of New Brunswick, read the constitutional questions which the Rev. Mr. McAlpin answered.

Other ministers who participated in the service are: the Reverend Ralph Carpenter, chaplain, New Jersey Neuropsychiatric Institute, invocation; Dr. John R. Bodo, First Presbyterian, Scripture; Dr. Charles R. Erdman, pastor, First Presbyterian, sermon; the Rev. George Muir, First Presbyterian, charge to the pastor; Dr. William L. Tucker, Second Presbyterian, charge to the congregation; Dr. Hans Hoffman, Princeton Seminary, prayer; and the Rev. Mr. McAlpin, benediction.

Jewish Fund Drive Begins. Princeton's Jewish Center inaugurated its fund-raising drive for a new building with a dinner held last Saturday night at the Princeton Inn. Over 160 residents of the Princeton community attended.

Jess Epstein, president of the Center, announced that Raymond A. Bowers, architect and member of L.C. Bowers & Sons, Inc., will prepare plans for the new building. The proposed structure will house a sanctuary for worship, classrooms for a religious school and the usual auxiliary facilities of modern congregations.

Rabbi Eugene Lipman, director of Synagogue Activities of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, addressed the gathering and pointed out the spiritual and community values of well-housed and active religious congregations.

The Center's site, 435 Nassau, has a frontage of 200 feet and a depth of 350 feet, with plenty of space for a decent set-back and off-street parking. The site is in a residential district where church buildings are permitted. However, the tract has a complex legal history because of some former zoning action, and the Center will probably ask the Borough Board of Adjustment to confirm the proposed use of the property by the Center.

Seymour H. Bogdonoff is chairman of the Center building committee, and Robert Sauber is chairman of the finance committee. William Miller served as master of ceremonies at the dinner. Dr. Irving M. Levy announced the invocation and Rabbi Joseph H. Gelberman gave the benediction.

THEY'LL WORK TOGETHER: In a service that emphasized the brotherhood of man and the unity of all Christians in one church, the Rev. David H. McAlpin, Jr., was installed last Sunday as associate pastor of the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Benjamin J. Anderson (right), pastor of the church, greets his new associate.

Bulletin Notes . . . "God's Great Promise to Man," a Christian Science program, will be broadcast this Sunday at 10:30 a.m. over WCBS. . . Princeton's Hadasah will hear Alexander J. Devit speak on "An Analysis of the Arab Mind" next Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at the Center.
